

Privacy Policy

Powell Industries is the owner and operator of this website. This privacy policy describes the type of information we may collect from visitors, how we handle that information, and how visitors can control the use of the information provided. This policy is subject to change.

Powell Industries believes it is important that you know how we treat any of your information we receive as a result of your interaction with our internet website.

In general, you can visit the Powell Industries website without telling us who you are or revealing any information about yourself. Our web servers collect the domain names, not the e-mail addresses, of visitors. This information is accumulated to measure the number of visits, average time spent on the site, pages viewed, etc. Powell utilizes this data to measure site performance and gauge how best to improve future content.

In any area where contact information is supplied voluntarily it is used only us to respond to your request. We do not publish, distribute, or sell this information in any form. In all areas where such information is collected we will provide a method to allow you to unsubscribe if you desire to do so. Should you encounter any difficulty with unsubscribing please send an email directly to:
privacy@powellind.com.

At times our website may contain links to other sites. While we try to link only to sites of high standards and respect for privacy, we are not responsible for the content or the privacy practices employed by other sites.

This website does not employ cookies. No file or document is placed on or downloaded to your computer without an express request from you the user.